Winterizing:

Turning off your outside water faucet

With the weather getting colder now is good time to turn off your outside water faucet. It is an easy thing to do, but many people have forgotten to do this. It can lead to your water pipe freezing, bursting and leaking. Apart from the cost to repair the pipe you could suffer some expensive water damage.

It is the responsibility of each owner to turn off their outside water faucet; any damage that results from failure to turn off the faucet is the owner's responsibility.

Here is a step by step guide to turning off your outside water faucet.

1. Locate your water faucet shutoff valve. Mine is located in my basement above the drop ceiling. It's about four feet in from the basement door. If you have a finished basement with a drop ceiling you'll need to get a step ladder and move a ceiling tile or two to locate it. It will look like the photo below.

2. Turn off the shutoff valve. Make sure the valve is fully closed (turn clockwise to close), but don't over-tighten the shutoff valve.

3. Go outside and open your outside water faucet.

4. Go back inside and using a small pair of pliers open the small air relief port located under the body of the shutoff valve. You don't have to fully remove the cap, just loosen it enough to allow air to enter. As you loosen the cap of the air relief port you will likely hear a rush of air entering the valve as the water in the pipe between the shutoff valve and the outside faucet drains.

5. Allow about one minute for the water to fully drain from the pipe.

6. Close the air relief port by tightening the cap.

7. Go outside and close the faucet valve. This will prevent cold air from intruding into the pipe.

This entire operation can be easily be done in under ten minutes. Don't let your water pipe freeze for the lack of a ten minute investment.

WINTER PARKING RESTRICTIONS

Just a reminder of the Winter parking restrictions that are in effect from December 1st through April 1st.

There is no parking on the incoming side of Bunker Hill Road between 1:00a.m. and 6:00a.m. Also, parking along Bunker Hill Road is banned during snowfalls to allow the plows to effectively clear the road.

There is also no parking in some of the end parking lots during snowfall to allow the plow crews to more easily push the snow off the roads. See the map below for details.

When you hear the plows, please move your cars from the driveways, so they can be plowed as well. Please help the snow removal crews do their job so everyone can have their drive cleared without undo delay.

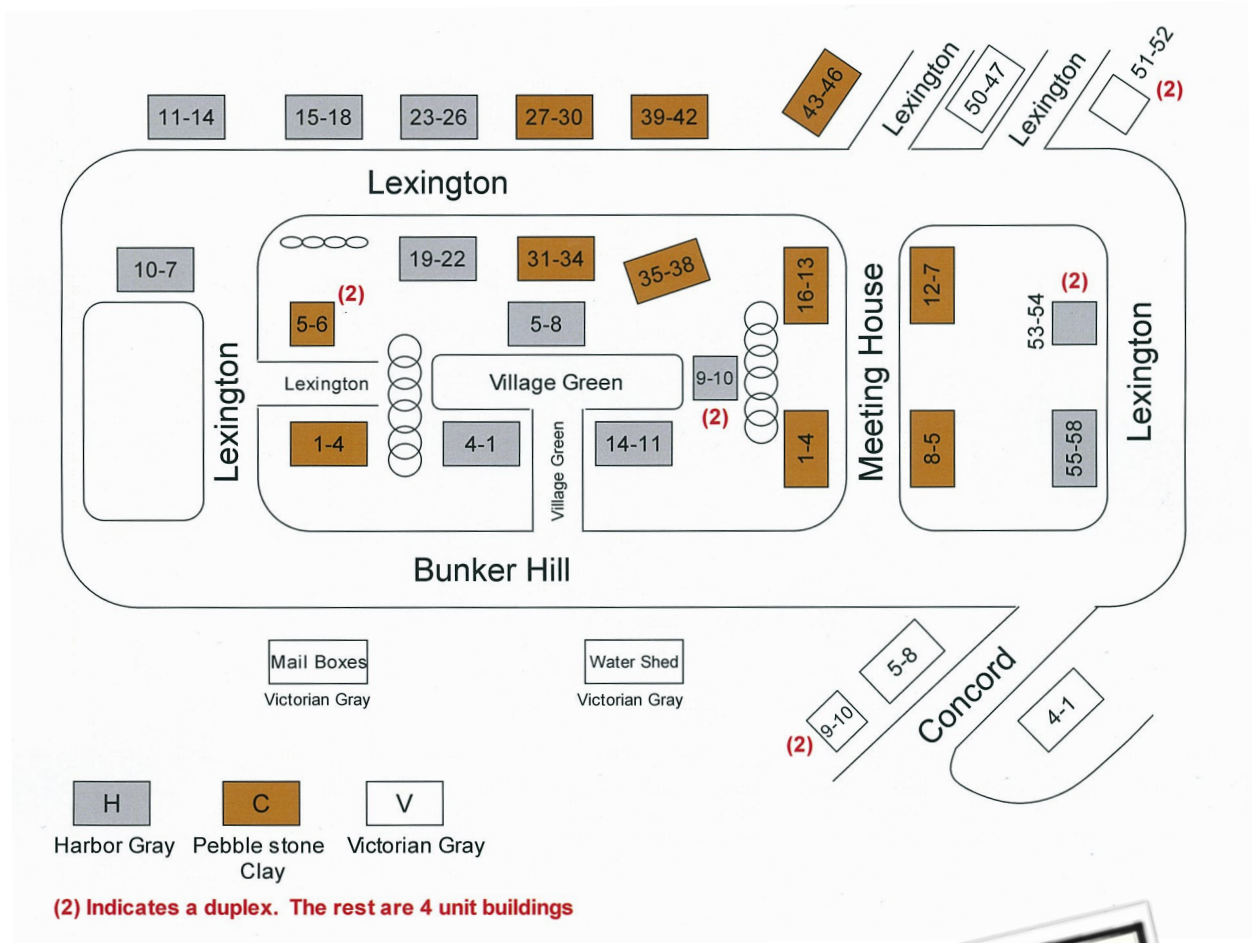

Please, slow down when exiting the complex. Because of melting snow, ice may form on Bunker Hill Road just before the intersection with Grafton Street. Accidents have happened before.
